GENERAL NEWS.

Evarts Enthusiastic Over His Trip to the Coast.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC.

Brief Notes from the National Capital—Low Water in the Mississippi—Maryland Democratic Convention

[THE OREGONIAN presents a meagre telegraphic report this morning because of the miserable insufficiency of the Western Union service.]

Massachusetts Prohibitionists in Convention

BOSTON, Sept 20.—The prohibitory state convention met at 11 o'clock this morning. James H. Robinson was chosen temporary chairman. Roberts made a short address, saying Robinson was in favor of the present license law and could not represent the prohibitionists. The republicans had gone from prohibition to license, and their nomination yesterday was made out by 200 men who are republicans to-day and democrats, just as they happen to feel. Committees were appointed, and George M Butterick was selected permanent president, who reviewed the history of prohibition, and recounted the manner in which that party had been deceived by declarations of the leading parties, republicans coming in for a larger portion of his animadversions. He predicted the ultimate success of prohibition, which is also the only remedy for evils which threaten the city. A letter was read from Rev A A Miner in which he said there is a prospect of a more open abandonment of temperance professions on the part of our republican friends than ever before, and this ought to be followed by an equally open abandonment of them by every true patriot in the state. That party by every true ... would be a commentary on the character of Massachusetts voters.

At the afternoon session Burgess of Worcester moved that the convention make no nomination for governor. He said the convention just held had nominated a candidate entirely unexceptionable (referring to Robinson), and around him prohibitionists should rally. The motion, after a sharp debate, was lost. Charles Almy of New Bedford was then nominated for governor.

Inter-State Educational Convention

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 19.—The inter state educational convention met this morning in the Walnut Street Baptist church. One hundred and forty delegates were present, representing twenty three states from Massachusetts on the east coast to California on the west and Louisiana on the south. The gentlemen present are representative men and warmly interested in the educational advancement of the country. The convention was called to order by Prof. Wm. Chenault, of the law department of the University of Louisville. Prayer followed, by Rev. Dr. A. A. Minor of Massachusetts. Judge Wm. Beckner, of Kentucky, was chosen temporary chairman. Mayor Chas D Jacob, of Louisville delivered an address of welcome. Hon John Eaton, U. S. commissioner of education, responded. After completing an organization, the convention adjourned, after adopting the following schedule reported by the committee on programme: First, educational lessons of the census; second, the education of the colored race; third, federal aid to local education; fourth, the best system of common schools under state control; fifth, the best means of awakening interest in common schools. During the afternoon session Dr Waite delivered an exhaustive address on the educational lessons of the census, which occupied the greater part of the time of the committee.

Formal Opening of a Cable Line.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—An important event in telegraphic circles will be the formal opening to-morrow morning of the Central and South American company's lines to Brazil, connection with the United States being made via Galveston, Texas. Cheaper rates will at once be inaugurated and it is anticipated that a lively business will spring up between the two great sections of the western hemisphere. Various gentlemen in official positions and prominently identified with the business interests of the country have expressed a desire to send messages over the wire upon this occasion, and among others the following from President Arthur to the Emperor of Brazil: "The president and government of the United States salute the emperor and people of Brazil through the new channel of direct communication between the two countries this day opened via Galveston and Valparaiso, and see in it a multiplied link of intercourse and an assurance that the happy relations between them will continue and increase to the material benefit of both peoples and countries."

Made an Assignment.

BOSTON, Sept 19.—Benjamin Burgess & Sons, sugar dealers, who recently failed, have made an assignment to Wm. O Rogers and Franklin Horn. The liabilities approximate $1,400,000, of which more than $12,000 is acceptances. The principal assets for unsecured creditors are claims to the amount of $7[illegible],000 against parties in Cuba. The creditors are scattered.

Low Water in the Mississippi

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 20.—The water is lower in the river than it has been for many years. All saw mills run by water on the east side have been compelled to stop for the lack of force. It is believed nothing can be done till the water raises. An attempt to clear the channel failed.

Telegraph Company Incorporated

NEW YORK, Sept 20.—Certificates of incorporation of the International Northern Telegraph Company were filed here Wednesday. Capital stock $5,000,000.

Arthur Gone to Newport.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The president left for Newport this morning. He will not go to Washington for some days yet.

Fire in the Woods

BAR HARBOR, Me., Sept. 19.—Fire in the woods, under the influence of a strong wind, is rapidly approaching the village. The inhabitants are fighting the fire.

Will Not Sign the Bill.

CONCORD, Sept. 19.—A Concord, New Hampshire, special says Governor Hale has decided not to sign the bill incorporating the Southern Pacific Company.

Two More Cases Reported.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 19.—Two new cases of yellow fever have been reported during the last twenty-four hours at the navy yards.

Mrs. Edwin Adams Dying.

LONG BRANCH, Sept. 19.—Mrs. Edwin Adams, the widow of the famous actor, is dying of paralysis.

WASHINGTON NEWS

The Blue and Gray—Fraternal Greetings.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—A letter to the Republican gives an account of the receptions tendered union army veterans who are visiting old battle fields in Shenandoah valley, by the citizens, militia and Confederate Veterans' Association of Winchester, Virginia. At that place yesterday, the correspondent writes that citizens turned out en masse to receive the union veterans and escorted them to the court house, where they were welcomed by the mayor and handsomely entertained. The court house and many private dwellings were appropriately decorated.

Not Contagious Pleuro-Pneumonia.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Dr Salmon of the department of agriculture, who is an expert veterinarian, states that he has come to the conclusion that the cattle disease in the District of Columbia which caused so much excitement a few months ago was not contagious pleuro pneumonia. The only cases of genuine pleuro pneumonia known to exist at present in the United States are in Connecticut, and there are only two herds affected. Precautions which have been taken are in the opinion of Dr Salmon, ample for prevention of contamination, and he does not believe the disease will spread.

Dezendorf After Mahone Again

WASHINGTON, Sept 20.—The civil service commissioners to-day received a letter from ex-Representative Dezendorf stating that C. O. Clark, Senator Mahone's political assessment agent, made an assessment last week of 5 per cent on salaries received by all employes of the Norfolk navy yard, and that this was the third assessment levied on the same employes by the same man inside of a year. Mr Lyman, chief examiner, says: "If Clark is a government employe, and has violated the civil service act, the matter will be laid before the executive authorities."

Hill's Office to be Overhauled

WASHINGTON, Sept 20.—The Critic says: "There was a report at the treasury department to-day that there would be a number of changes in the office of the supervising architect of the treasury at an early date. The report mentioned the name of Chief Clerk Jacobs and four or five others who would have to go. A reporter made inquiry of Secretary Folger concerning the report. The secretary replied that he had not yet given the matter full consideration. He thought it necessary before taking action that there should be no doubt. However, there will be a pretty thorough overhauling of the supervising architect's office."

The Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The secretary of the navy received a telegram from Commander Welch at the Pensacola navy yard, dated the 19th, as follows: "There are no cases of fever among the naval forces. Have been able to-day to get some reliable information as to the situation. There were yesterday ten cases of fever under treatment by the physicians, two of which died to-day."

Another Bond Call Probable

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The Critic says: "Another bond call may be made before the $15,000,000 bond call just issued matures, which will be December 1 next. The nearest estimate that can be made of the further amount of bonds to be redeemed during the fiscal year at $45,000,000. This would make the total debt retired during that period about $[illegible],000,000."

Not Enough New Stamps.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—It is believed that with the utmost exertions of the department, fully one third of the post offices of the country will not have an adequate supply of stamps upon the date when the law providing for new letter rates goes into operation. Department officials however do not fear any serious obstruction to business.

Instructed to Collect Data.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Upon recommendation of Lieut. Powell of the signal service, the chief signal officer has instructed observers at stations to collect and forward all data obtainable relating to cyclones, etc., to be published monthly.

Purchase of Silver

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The treasury department has purchased 4[illegible],000 ounces of silver for the Philadelphia, San Francisco and New Orleans mints.

MARYLAND DEMOCRATS

A Ticket Nominated and a Platform Adopted—The Usual Cry.

BALTIMORE, Sept 20.—The democratic state convention reassembled to-day and the following ticket was nominated: Robert M. McLane for governor, Charles B Roberts for attorney general and J Frank Turner for comptroller.

The following is the platform adopted: "The democratic party of Maryland in state convention assembled resolves as follows: The election for an executive and officers of state, to be held in November this year, is of momentous importance because it will determine the policy and control of the legislature of the state until 1888 and will exert a decisive influence upon the vote of the state at the presidential election of 1884. The declaration of the election of Hayes and Wheeler in 1876 to the offices of president and vice president of the United States was brought about by frauds consummated under forms of law, and the methods used in the election of Garfield and Arthur in 1880 which have been approved by the creatures who did the evil work to have been if possible more discreditable than those adopted by their fellows in 1876. The national republican party of the country had during its tenure of power, made public lands the spoil of favored corporations. It has squandered the money of the country in maintaining a horde of idle profligate and incapable placemen. It has not during its term of power in its tariff legislation given that just and equal protection to the industries of the country which it ought to have afforded but has on the contrary made the masses of the people pay from their earnings enormous bounties to favored monopolies. It has broken up the commerce of the United States in vessels carrying the national flag. It has permitted unworthy men who planned and executed frauds perpetrated in the presidential elections in 1876 and 1880 to deal with the patronage of the government and with public money in the treasury as if these great trusts were spoils of army camps. The democratic conservative party of this state will enter into the state and national campaigns the ensuing years with its whole heart resting its opinions of national politics, as heretofore, upon the express words of the tenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, adopted in 1795. The powers not delegated to the United States by constitution nor prohibited by it to states are restricted to laws relating to shipping and carrying of ocean freights, as will restore our merchant marine to its former prosperity."

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS

EVARTS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER HIS TRIP

CHICAGO, Sept 20.—Wm M. Evarts, who returned from the Villard excursion yesterday, was enthusiastic about the country traversed by the Northern Pacific, its resources and its future. He said that one is introduced to a new form of topography when he sees the vast plains of Dakota and the table lands of Montana. The agricultural resources of the country are limitless, and while it may not become exactly the granary of the world it will certainly furnish us all the bread we can eat and to spare. The time will come when a great portion of the Northern Pacific will have to be double tracks, owing to the demands for transportation which are rapidly growing, the population will make upon it. The road bed is good and was easy to build. There are few grades and obstacles to be contended with. When it is remembered that the outlet of the road is 600 miles nearer to Japan than is San Francisco you can see what advantage the Northern Pacific route will have. The harbor of Puget sound and the entire upper coast are good.

THE BAGGAGE AGENTS IN COUNCIL

CHICAGO, Sept 20.—At to-day's session of the national association of baggage agents methods of handling baggage and legal liability for injury to baggage, under the laws of different states were discussed. It was decided not to check articles of less than twenty pounds weight. The committee on a checking system reported in favor of the ordinary reversible check good either way between two points for use between points on the same line, a joint reversible check for use between points on connecting lines and special checks with holder and a paper tag for marking destination, which it is believed will greatly simplify and cheapen the checking system.

NORTHERN PACIFIC STATEMENT.

NEW YORK, Sept 20.—The annual report of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company for 1883 shows gross earnings $7,355,459, increase $1,415,168. Expenses $5,348,929, increase $1,764,049. Net earnings $2,518,5[illegible]9, increase $861,061. The treasurer's statement shows a balance, July 1, of $6,230,3[illegible]9.13. Received from earnings, land department and miscellaneous $9,370,0[illegible]4, proceeds of bonds $18,000,000, preferred stock sold $[illegible]77,10[illegible], loans for construction $542,0[illegible]4, total $37,[illegible]5,199. It is the belief of the directors that payment of regular dividends on preferred stock may be reasonably expected to begin at an early date. An increase of $7[illegible] is reported in the average earnings per mileage and a decrease of $1072 on the gross earnings. The express and telegraph business carried on by the company show encouraging figures. The gross earnings of the former were $23[illegible], expenses $1[illegible]4,47[illegible], leaving a net earning of $14[illegible]. The telegraph system was also greatly extended.

EASTERN PASSENGER ROUTES

CHICAGO, Sept 20.—An executive meeting of passenger agents of east bound trunk lines was held to-day. It is stated that the result was a free and full discussion of the charges of rate-cutting by some of the lines and a restoration of complete harmony.

A STRONG MEMBERSHIP

CHICAGO, Sept 20.—The Merchants Freight Bureau organized for the purpose of protecting the interests of shippers now numbers [illegible]00 members.

COL. FRED CROCKER INTERVIEWED.

Progress of Work on the California and Oregon—Railroad Notes

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 20.—(Special.)—In conversation with Col. Fred Crocker yesterday afternoon he stated to an OREGONIAN correspondent that work on the California and Oregon railroad is progressing as speedily as possible under the circumstances. The great difficulty appears to be in obtaining laborers, as many of the Chinese employed at the scene of operations are preparing to return to China to observe their new year, while others have obtained work on farms. The total number of men employed on the extension exceeds 4000 and it is even proposed to increase the force. A station has been established some twenty miles from Redding, to which materials are shipped in large quantities. While work is being pushed at the various tunnels a road has been built around them so that grading and other work need not be delayed.

RAILROAD NOTES

Relative to the meeting of railroad managers, which convenes to-morrow at the Palace hotel he said that great importance attaches to it from the fact that the whole freight tariff of California and to a considerable extent that of the whole Pacific was involved. An express condition of the pool previously was that it should be terminated by the completion of another transcontinental road as in the instance of the Northern Pacific.

Speaking in reference to the interest which the Central Pacific has in the Atlantic & Pacific railroad he said that the fact that it owned some stock in the latter road is no secret but that the published statement that the Central Pacific proposed to purchase the controlling interest and that this was one of the objects of the present conference of railroad managers was unauthorized and lacked the elements of truth. Such a step as regards the Central Pacific was remote and would only occur as any other business proposition based on a desire to further the interests of railroads owned by the Central Pacific people.

ACCIDENTS

TERRIBLE BOILER EXPLOSION

PITTSBURG, Sept 20.—Shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon the battery boilers at the iron mill of Lyon, Short & Co on the south side exploded with terrific force, killing and injuring a large number of persons. Particulars of the explosion are not yet received as the telephone wires are down. The mill is now burning and the fire department and a large force of police have been dispatched to the scene of the disaster.

IMMIGRATION

Figures from Castle Garden for the First Eight Months of the Present Year

The total number of immigrants landed at this port for the eight months ending August 31 is 284,9[illegible]6. This is a decrease of 53,57[illegible] from the number landed during the corresponding period last year. Each month of this year, with one exception shows a falling off in the number of immigrants compared with the corresponding month last year. The figures are as follows:

	1882	1883
January	11,[illegible]43	8,248
February	16,752	11,214
March	40,691	28,691
April	69,684	61,884
May	68,708	59,563
June	51,169	53,178
July	31,018	31,350
August	28,165	26,311

The total immigration last year was more than 450,000. It is not probable that the total number landed this year will exceed 30[illegible],000. Last year, however, immigration was unprecedentedly heavy, ever the immigration was ... The arrivals this year will be as in excess of the average number during the last ten years.

Superintendent Jackson said that the greatest proportionate decrease had been among Germans. Last year the arrivals from Germany numbered 192,067. This year the number will be about 30,000 less. He said that the grade of the immigrants was much better than in former years. There were fewer aged people, and the proportion of young men and women between the ages of 20 and 35 years was unusually large. Although efforts are making by land holders and the proprietors of factories in the south to induce immigrants to settle in that part of the country, few are willing. Seventy-five per cent of the arrivals passed directly through to settlements in the western states. Mr Jackson said that the number of cases of contagious diseases had been much smaller than for many years. There had been only two cases reported, and the general health of the immigrants had been good. Few complaints of bad treatment on the part of steamship officers had been received.

Terrible Inroads Made by the Foot and Mouth Disease.

AUSTRALIA AND THE ANNEXATION SCHEME.

Two Vessels Lost—Aid for O'Donnell—The Franco-Chinese Difficulty—Yellow Fever in Mexico

ENGLAND

TERRIBLE INROADS OF THE FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

CHICAGO, Sept 20.—London advices say the foot and mouth disease is making alarming progress in England and threatens the ruin of tens of thousands of farmers in that country. The recent unfavorable seasons throughout the midland counties caused many to abandon tillage and devote themselves more to grazing and butter making, and cattle became the principal staple of those counties. The disease now extends from Cheshire across the country to Lincolnshire and along the eastern and southern coast as far as Devonshire. It exists in very virulent form and is of an epidemic nature. Grazers and farmers are almost panic-stricken and deputations daily beseech the privy council to take measures to prevent a spread of the disease. At the last meeting of the council it adopted the rule now in force in this country, which is practically free from disease, to check the movement of sound animals through infected districts in order to reach markets, but this is deemed insufficient and it is urged that stock markets and fairs be closed during the coming autumn and winter in all districts where disease has appeared at any time during the year. Should this course be adopted American cattle raisers will find a better market in England than heretofore. The absurd cry that the infection was introduced from this country has ceased.

THE COTTON TRADE DISCUSSED

LONDON, Sept 20.—At a session of the British association for the advancement of science the condition of the English cotton trade was discussed, the general opinion being that England has no need of fear from foreign competition. In an address to the association Sir Wm Woodhouse ascribed the commercial depression of the country to the operation of free trade laws, and advocated a return to a protective tariff.

NOTES BY CORRESPONDENTS

LONDON, Sept 19.—The Paris Berlin correspondent says: "Speculators are introducing American railway stocks on the bourse, but their admission meets with some strong opposition." Another correspondent states that he is in a position to deny that the emperor and the czar will hold a conference this year. The relations of Russia and Germany are excellent, and there is no necessity of such meeting.

THEY SEE "A DEEP LAID SCHEME"

LONDON, Sept 19.—The present visit of Gladstone to Copenhagen was made the occasion of considerable comment by continental journals who profess to see in it a deep laid scheme for coalition against the Austro German alliance. English journals ridicule the idea.

BARK BURNED—ONE LIFE LOST

LONDON, Sept 19.—The bark Oxford at Havre from New York caught fire and probably has burned to the water's edge. The cook was burned to death. The first mate was seriously burned and others slightly injured.

MISSIONARY'S HOUSE LOOTED

LONDON, Sept 20.—During the bombardment of Tamatave the missionary's house was looted and he was threatened with punishment by the French officials because he failed to remove debris caused by ransacking the house.

AID FOR O'DONNELL

LONDON, Sept 20.—Efforts have been made to obtain the services of Charles Russell, member of parliament for Dundalk, to lead the defense for O'Donnell, a central committee being formed in this city to obtain funds for his defense.

BOTH VESSELS LOST

LONDON, Sept 20.—The Italian bark Fedeli Gaggino from Dunkirk for [illegible] has been in collision with a steamer, name not given. Both vessels were foundered, but the crews were saved.

DUBLIN, Sept 20.—It is stated that Parnell has selected Edward McMahon as a candidate of the home rulers to contest the election for member of parliament for Limerick.

FRANCE

THE FRANCO CHINESE DIFFICULTY

HONGKONG, Sept 19.—A correspondent says the French are in difficulty through want of troops. Many Chinese are deserting to the Black Flags. Lank their chief is very powerful. France may have to negotiate with him. Foreigners have been seen fighting on the side of the Black Flags. Gen. Bouet admits that he was unable to hold his position after the last fight. The French are still burning steamers and houses.

PARIS, Sept 20.—A meeting of twenty members of the extreme left to-day passed resolutions insisting upon the necessity of convoking the chambers in order to ascertain the policy of the government in connection with the Tonquin question. A committee was appointed to wait upon Prime Minister Ferry and request him to call the chambers into session.

LONDON, Sept 20.—A Paris dispatch states that it was reported there to-day that the memorandum of the French proposals on the Tonquin question which Marquis Tseng telegraphed yesterday to Pekin have not proved acceptable to the Chinese government.

AUSTRALIA

THE ANNEXATION SCHEME

MELBOURNE, Sept 20.—The newspapers generally express dissatisfaction with Lord Derby's dispatch condemning the projected annexation of South Pacific islands to Australia, and they assert that owing to this policy on the part of the home government they fear the colonies will be flooded with French convicts. In Victoria it is declared that Lord Derby has failed to appreciate the danger, and that the colonies themselves must devise means for their protection. A conference of representatives of the various colonies will be held in Sydney, New South Wales, the latter part of November, at which the subject will be discussed.

A POLITICAL LETTER

How Matters Look to a Washington Correspondent—Blaine Forging Rapidly Forward

Correspondence the Philadelphia Times

WASHINGTON, Sept 1[illegible].—A year from this time the country will be in the hottest of the presidential battle. There is less of probability attaching to the question of candidates in either party than there was apparently six months ago. Within that time however a number of individuals in both parties who began to suspect that the presidential lightning might strike them, have been placed beyond the possibility of such an event. Six months ago among the republican senators Windom, Harrison, Hawley and Hale were spoken of, but not now. On the contrary Blaine though protesting all the while has been gaining until good judges speaking from the many stations of public opinion believe that he can have the nomination if he wants it, whereas six months ago the belief was quite common that he could not get it if he wanted it. The country does not seem disposed to consult Mr Blaine's wishes or pay much attention to his wishes on the subject. The fact probably is that he does not consider himself a candidate, having made up his mind that he is not too old to wait even if the presidency is essential to his peace of mind or the greatness of his fame.

GRANT AND BLAINE

At this time four years ago the republicans knew pretty well between whom they had to choose. Apparently it was to be Grant or Blaine. The one is now out of the case by common consent while the other in spite of himself, from indications, is every way strengthening. Whatever else there may be in the case, it is too early for Mr Blaine to give consent, which accounts for a considerable of the uncertainty experienced by republicans at large for the want of the concentration of four years ago. The Grant men, then so powerful and confident, not only have no candidate but Grant and Conkling declare that they are out of politics. It is to be doubted, however, whether they have lost interest to the extent their language indicates. With General Grant good reasons exist for retiring from politics but it would damage his fame were the future to disclose that he had any other desire than the success of the republican party. Neither he nor Mr Conkling can afford for a single moment to have the suspicion of uncertainty in this respect to attach to them. They who emphasize the idea that "out of politics" means that the next republican presidential candidate will not have their hearty support doubtless do both Grant and Conkling a great injustice.

The sober judgment of the republicans of the country is yet to be ascertained. As the last six months have seen a considerable list laid aside the six months to come is likely to see those now prominent overshadowed by others now less conspicuous, at least less pretentious and probably less ambitious. Of this class is Senator Edmunds, who lends less the man for president, because so many others appear and disappear, and of whom two things are always to be said, to-wit: He is the kind of man whom the fathers of the republic would come forth to support were such a thing possible, and as a candidate he would have the whole republican vote. This covers about the entire ground when the question is viewed in its true light.

THE FALL ELECTIONS

The ensuing fall elections will do much towards settling the fate of aspirants on both sides. For instance should New York go democratic decisively and the republicans be snowed under, even though not so heavily as last fall yet snowed under as there is a chance, and should Arthur seek the nomination under such circumstances his prospects would be greatly diminished if not destroyed. The logic of such a result would operate powerfully on the nominating convention. On the contrary should New York be carried this fall Arthur's prospects would be greatly increased and if Mr Blaine did not conclude to say he was in the hands of his friends he would be a formidable competitor in the race for nomination. In this light the result in New York will be important.

It is related that a New York stalwart whose opinion was recently sought expressed the belief that the republicans would at least make great gains, that whereas the majority against Folger was 200,000 the majority against the republicans this fall would not exceed 50,000. It is probable that the answer denoted the measure of the malice of the speaker rather than his honest judgment. Should Mr Folger and Mr Conkling and their friends do their whole duty for the republican ticket its election would be probable. Nothing but a contrary course by those leaders and those who take their cue from them can expose the party to the defeat which even now is being predicted for it.

The enemies of Mr Arthur in his own party will take the first opportunity to set him aside, said a veteran observer, and they are as likely to deal with John Kelly as Arthur is. Such observations suggest possibilities. They would scarcely be made in sport. The under surface discloses numerous reasons for revealing these probabilities, such probabilities only as can at best be argued from present indications.

HOADLY AND OHIO

It is noticeable that the state of the presidential question with the democrats is still more unclear than that of the republicans. Confusion and uncertainty have attended the discussion of the question. Who of all is the democratic candidate? In a ... manner it has been manifestly the intention ... part of the discussion has been for no other object. In Ohio the ... prospect for governor has apparently been sacrificed that his pretensions for president might be rebuked. When Hoadly saw himself beaten for governor he was willing to give up the idea of the presidential nomination. The democratic muddle in Ohio was not improved by the idea of Hoadly for president. With his disappearance from the list of candidates the muddle has grown less but it is doubtful according to last reports whether although the doctors are ready to agree the patient can be saved.

A prominent Ohio democrat states that it was not nervous prostration but strategy that carried Hoadly to Philadelphia for a brief period. Hoadly says he made the mistake of coursing over the track before the race began, and jockeying made it wise to withdraw him for a time. He will appear again when the track is in a condition to let him out at a winning pace. Dropping the figure the authority avers that the Ohio democrats are settling their difficulties which they could do better with Hoadly absent than with him making the rattling campaign he has been prosecuting since the nomination. He says that Hoadly will occupy himself in Philadelphia with the preparation of three or four speeches while the party at home will make every preparation for a month's campaign of unwonted vigor and thoroughness. This is the programme on which democrats base their expectations of carrying Ohio next month. But Hoadly will be a presidential candidate no more.

It is useless, says a democratic leader with a preference for McDonald, to claim now the nomination for any one. Unfortunately we have the house of representatives. The nomination as well as the election may be determined by the use of the power. I am not sure that McDonald is as strong to-day as he was three months ago or that he will be as strong three months hence as he is now. Of both the aspirants ... waiting—Tilden. If Blaine in your side is stronger on your side ... than he would be ... McDonald ... the nomination may be his ... It would be according to experience. In the spring there is likely to be a new crop of candidates, the old ones not having survived the winter.

The Bottom Falls Out of a Lake

Hailey (Idaho) Times

Red Fish lake above Hawt... City on the summit of the Sawtooth range of mountains in the Wood River region, Idaho, has dropped through the bottom. The lake had an area of several miles and was many fathoms in depth. It was on the summit of one of the peaks of the range some 11,600 feet elevation above the sea and surrounded by heavy timber which rendered it a delightful place of resort in summer for camping, fishing and boating parties.

The lake has been there since the white man has known the country but lately—the day of the occurrence is not known—the bottom fell out. The country formation is granite and limestone and an immense fissure is opened, whether caused by a separation or a tilting of the earth's surface or from volcanic action is not known.

At present the bed of the lake is dry and presents the appearance of a deep groove or valley on the summit of the mountains. The lake has always contained millions of redfish and been a favorite resort for bear, deer and other game. Where the fish went is as much a mystery as where the water went.

A Sanguinary Affair

The Denver Tribune's special from Socorro, New Mexico, says: At one of Big Four cattle company's ranches near here, a bloody tragedy was enacted. On Monday Jim Fowler, a large cattle dealer, and Billy Forrest and Billy Childs, with whom he had previous trouble, met. Forrest and Childs commenced firing at Fowler, who returned the fire, killing Childs. Forrest ran into a house occupied by Wm. McGee. The latter went to the door and asked Forrest to come out, when Fowler fired, killing McGee. Fowler then set fire to the house. Rather than take the chances of shooting with Fowler, Forrest put a ball through his own heart. All three were buried in the same grave.

DECISION AGAINST A HONG KONG CHINAMAN

Progress of Work on the California and Oregon—News Notes from the North—Passenger Lists—Etc.

CALIFORNIA

Coal Trade of the Coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 19.—(Special.)—Inquiries directed to the principal coal dealers in this city who handle domestic coal as to the effect of the rapid development made in northwest mines, disclosed considerable assumed indifference. One answered that he had never given the question a moment's thought; another that he is content to attend to his business without invoking nightmares. A third said that the northern coal fleet presents a formidable array of vessels and will be very materially increased before the close of the next year. In addition to the colliers of the Seattle Coal and Transportation Company and of other companies of which the chief point of delivery is in this city and which include nine iron steamers, there are on the ways in the east two for the Southern Oregon Improvement Company which will be completed in the spring, one for the Central Pacific at Cramp's yard, Philadelphia, and which will be launched early in November, an iron collier for H D Chandler & Co, the contract for which is to be awarded shortly, and an iron collier for Messrs Hawley, Flanagan & Holt. This view of the strength and importance of the coal fleet does not take into account frequent charters of iron ships, while they are waiting for a rise in freights. Besides this it is not at all improbable that some of the iron steamers belonging to Morgan & Sons at New Orleans will be purchased next spring by the Central Pacific Railroad. As Col Crocker said to-day, should their business require they would have one or more ships sent out here.

The Wool Trade.

The inactivity that has characterized the wool market for some time past has given way to an increased trade both for local and eastern account. A majority of the transactions that have been noted included the better grades of northern California and Oregon wools, but despite the fact that these have been handled quite freely during the past ten days there is still a good supply to draw from. The defective spring crop of the former is so heavy that dealers believe it will not be worked off for some considerable time unless a much livelier trade develops. Receipts of Oregon wool are said to have about ceased. Fall California staples are coming forward quite freely. So far shipments are of a defective description that excite little attention from buyers. A prominent dealer states that the prospect of the fall trade is not regarded as encouraging for prices and that it is probable that all grades of California fall wool will be sold at lower rates than those which have ruled for the past five seasons. The scouring establishments are still working, two of them on outside orders and the others for private account. Dealers quote eastern Oregon poor to good description 15@18 cents per pound, good to choice 18@21 cents, valley wools 18@22 cents and 23@25 cents for Umpqua.

Decision Against the Hongkong Chinaman.

The case of the Hongkong Chinaman claiming the rights of an English subject came before the U S circuit court to-day. Judge Field of the supreme court rendered a decision that the law was intended to apply to all persons of China only and that it made no difference whether laborers were subjects of England or not. The act must be enforced against subjects of England or any other country, provided they were included in the proper construction of the law.

THE RAILROAD CONFERENCE.

Secret Meetings Held—The Northern Pacific Likely to Block the Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 20.—The conference of railway managers from roads west of the Missouri river opened at the Palace hotel this morning. The following lines were represented: The Central and the Southern Pacific, Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio, Union Pacific, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Burlington and Missouri, Texas and Pacific, Denver and Rio Grande, and the Atlantic and Pacific. The vice president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road was also present. The total mileage represented was 30,000.

The meeting was called to order by General Manager Towne of the Central Pacific. H. M. Hoxie, vice president and general manager of Gould's south western system, was elected chairman. It was decided that the meeting be held secret, a committee, composed of Vining of the Union Pacific, Muir of the Northern Pacific and Goddard of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, were appointed to furnish the newspapers such of the proceedings as in their opinion, was of public interest.

The immediate object of the conference, as stated by one of the general managers to a representative of the associated press, is not to make any alteration in fares and freights but if possible to agree upon a pro rata distribution of the same between the several railroads lying between the Pacific and the Missouri so as to prevent cutting of rates. The adoption of this would have the effect of breaking up the contract system with shippers hitherto enforced by the Central and Southern Pacific Companies. The fight therefore will be over the proportion to be assigned to each. It was evident from the start of the meeting this morning that none present had any clear idea what they were going to get. They only know that if they were not allotted a certain minimum proportion they would "jump" the conference.

AN AGREEMENT IMPROBABLE

With the exception, then, of the appointment of a press committee the whole day up to 5 o'clock was occupied by the managers in setting forth the capabilities and possibilities of their respective roads and venturing any claim as to what proportion of the gross pooled earnings they felt entitled to. Some are sanguine that a basis of agreement will eventually be reached. Others are doubtful. Prominent among the latter are the Northern Pacific representatives who it is believed will claim a larger share than the Central Pacific will concede. It is generally acknowledged that the principal difficulties will be between those two roads, the Central Pacific having the whip hand. It is confidently affirmed that Villard's instructions to his representatives were that, if such a proportion as he named could not be obtained, to withdraw from the meeting and immediate steps would be taken to construct an independent branch line to this city. As an indication of this feeling John Muir, representing the Northern Pacific, stated that if each road gets what it wants it will take 400 per cent to go around.

Another important feature of the day's proceedings has developed that an understanding exists between the Union and Northern Pacific. They will mutually sustain each other against the Central Pacific. If this is adhered to it is safe to predict that the result of the conference will be nil.

CELEBRATION AT CHENEY

Enthusiastic Reception Given to Benjamin P Cheney for Whom the Town was Named

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN

CHENEY, Sept 18.—The grandest and most imposing ceremonies ever witnessed in this section have just been concluded. The occasion was in honor of Benjamin P Cheney of Boston, one of the directors of the N P R R, for whom our town is named, and who is the founder of the B P Cheney academy here.

Mr Cheney arrived in a special car at 4 o'clock, accompanied by his most estimable wife, Robert Harris, one of the directors of the N P R R, and vice president of the New York, Lake Erie and Western railroad, Gen. Kane, brother of the famous Arctic explorer, and other prominent railroad men.

The party was met at the depot by above 200 students of the academy, brass band and citizens of Cheney and surrounding vicinity. The town was beautifully decorated with flags and evergreens, and across one of the principal streets was suspended the motto in evergreen letters "Greeting to B P Cheney." All business was suspended. Mr Cheney and friends were escorted to the academy by the band, students and a large crowd of citizens.

Hon Geo E Cole, formerly postmaster of Portland, presided over the ceremonies at the academy. Hon D F Percival delivered the address of welcome in a brief but appropriate speech, after which Mr Cheney was introduced amid great applause. Mr Cheney related some of the incidents of his visit to the Pacific coast, but said this occasion was the most pleasant circumstance of all. He concluded by saying that when the academy should be found insufficient to accommodate the demand he would make it larger.

Robert Harris, Esq., of New York, was next introduced and said in substance that Mr Cheney had made a great many good investments but he thought that Cheney academy was the best investment he had ever made. General Kane was then introduced and spoke of Mr Cheney's excellent wife as a lady possessing every rare quality found in a lady of the highest order of her sex.

Mrs Cheney appeared before the vast audience and pleasantly bowed, and three rousing cheers went up for the noble lady. Appropriate remarks were made by Dr G. H. Atkinson, Rev Father Eels, W R Andrews and others. The party were all evidently much pleased with their visit, as were the citizens who will feel grateful to Mr Cheney. They were all interested in the display of vegetables and grains at the railroad office and were much pleased with the town of Cheney. As the train departed they were entertained by the band until out of hearing, and handkerchiefs were waved until the train was out of sight.

The day will long be remembered as one of the most pleasant in the history of Cheney.

A MISERABLE MORMON

The Wretched Man Unfolds a Story of Domestic Misery.

In a late number of the Salt Lake Tribune a Mormon family man—a three-time winner in the game of matrimony—thus bewails his hapless fate:

Editors Tribune: In the last Deseret paper our editor asks: "Why don't some of the professing outside world show up some of the bad results of polygamy among ourselves?" I will try to explain. To call polygamy diabolism, in my own estimation and according to my own experience, is a weak word. When myself and wife joined the Mormon church in England polygamy was denied. It was rumored that the heads of the church had more wives than one, and, to settle the matter a very prominent Mormon elder was at my house and we asked him, at least my wife did, if it was a true report. The elder said there was no such thing in the church. So we disposed of everything we had and raised means enough to go to Council Bluffs. Going to the house of the elder I found he had two or three wives himself. After stopping one year at Council Bluffs we raised means enough to start the next spring for Utah. That year Apostle Benson was sent to [illegible] Orson Hyde. On our way we met a lot of missionaries among them Amasa [illegible]strong and others. They told us they had a revelation with them sent by Brigham Young to publish to all the world, saying polygamy was a divine principle. In a few years myself and wife had overcome our scruples, and I was allowed to take two extra wives.

In our exodus south at the time of the Johnston army invasion, I lost my second wife at Payson. She had twins and died. I continued to have children by my third wife, and raised four sons and three daughters by her. The youngest child is now about 13 years old.

Now comes the beauties of polygamy. The children of wife No 1 were taught to despise the children of wife No 3 and without relating all the unpleasantness that have arisen I will only relate a few. About ten years ago or more I went to England on a mission. When I returned I brought a few goods which my own parents had given me. Among them two or three women's cloaks. I divided the goods among my two wives and gave a cloak to each. My first wife thought she ought to have them both, and so her children thought for a year or so after, as my wife No 3 was leaving home one morning to go to Echo on business, two of my first wife's sons waylaid her and with their knives cut the cloak from her back and one of them cut her hand. She carries the mark to this day. She returned home and showed me her condition and in her frenzy she had considerable to say outside of the house. The youngest of the two boys called her bad names and told her to get into the house. I did not hear the talk myself, but I went right out on having been told what he said. I went to the oldest son's house where the boy was, and asked him if he had so called her, but he denied it. After a time the elder boy saw his mistake and asked forgiveness and was forgiven. At the same time he corroborated the testimony of the injured woman by saying the other boy did call her the name then. [illegible] and to this day he has not taken it back. My family has been divided. It is so to-day and is as much so among them as when Sarah ordered Abraham to send Hagar away. All this has existed for years and they seem as far from reconciliation as at first.

The other day my wife came to Croydon where we live on a small farm. As soon as I knew she was coming, I went to meet her to show my love, respect and esteem and invited her to my home to stay with us a few weeks and try and reconcile all our past difficulties and ill feelings, but her children would not let her come to my house. So she came to Croydon and returned to her home in Salt Lake City, I expect, to make the breach wider than ever.

My case is the case of many more. A happy day will it be when God Almighty interposes against a poor mean principle, which has resulted in the degradation of hundreds of pure honest women, and to the sorrow of poor, honest men. So I must be an apostate because I do not nor can I sanction polygamy, and I am satisfied there never will be any polygamy among my children from this time forth.

HOW PRESIDENTS DRESS.

Grant and Arthur Good Patrons of the Tailor—Hayes's "Chopped" Clothes

A Chicago tailor who has had experience in dressing presidents has been chatting with a reporter on the subject of costuming public men. "We have never begun to sell as many clothes here since Grant went out of office," said he. "I made all of Grant's clothes. He was very liberal and easy to please. The public men of his time were great buyers of clothes. It was a common thing for a senator or member to buy a dozen suits a year. Grant's cabinet people were very dressy."

"How was it under Hayes?"

"We never did but one job for Hayes. That knocked him cold. He came down the first summer day during his first year in office and ordered us to make him a thin sack coat out of the very best grosgrain silk. The material was expensive. It cost us exactly $40 to get up that coat. We had heard that he was close and as we wanted to catch his trade we put the price at $50. That paralyzed him. Oh, how he did kick! But he paid the bill and that was the last order we got from him. He had the rest of his clothes chopped out for him by his own tailor in Fremont. He sent his boys to us for their made suits, but we never made any money out of the family under him. We had some of his cabinet on our books but there was very little coming under Hayes. The purchase of clothes by public men fell off 50 per cent. I never expect again to see so much spent in my shop as when Grant was president."

"How was Garfield?"

"He was a very careless dresser and did not have much taste. He was rather slow pay when he was in congress, but when he got into the white house he began to buy a much better grade of clothes, and to pay greater attention to his dress. The day he was shot he had on a very handsome suit we made for him, price $60. Hayes would have died before he would have paid that money for a suit of clothes."

"Do you do much for President Arthur?"

"Not a dollar's worth. He does business with his old tailor in New York—the man who makes the suits for the members of the Union League club. He is a very high-priced man. He does not make pleasant business suits under $75. He was over here the other day to take an order for the president. He said he did not care anything for the president's trade. He was so hard to suit. He took up twenty pairs of trousers the other day, to make the president a measure, and spent an hour with him trying them on before he could find a pair to suit. He says the only way he can get along with the president is to be right up and down with him. One day Arthur spoke to him very sharply about the fit of a coat and the tailor turned his back on him. At least he said he did. Then the president said: 'Oh, come now, don't take any offense, I can't afford to quarrel with you.'

"You see a first class tailor is a pretty independent man, but while he is particular with the president he is very careless with the work for the president's servants. We used to furnish the White House liveries but the job goes to the New York man now. The new livery coats of the president's coachmen and footmen, made of cream colored cloth, cost $[illegible] a piece, but Grant ... [illegible] the worst fitting things I ever saw. They are like the clothes the Fremont tailor used to chop out for Hayes."

Skin Diseases

Fifteen years of Suffering.—Body covered with Humor.—Had Twelve Doctors.—Paid out $500.—No Cure.—No Hope.

I will now state that I made a miraculous cure of one of the worst cases of skin disease known. The patient is a man forty years old, had suffered fifteen years. His eyes, scalp and nearly his whole body presented a frightful appearance. Had had the attention of twelve different physicians who prescribed the best remedies known to the profession, such as iodide potassium, arsenic, corrosive sublimate, sarsaparilla, etc. Had paid $500 for medical treatment, with but little relief. I prevailed upon him to use the CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally. He did so, and was COMPLETELY CURED. The skin on his head, face and many other parts of his body which presented a most loathsome appearance, is now as soft and smooth as an infant's, with no scar or trace of the disease left behind. He has now been cured twelve months. Reported by Helpless for Eight Years—Unable to Walk for One Year—Got about on Hands and Knees—A Wonderful Cure.

I have had a most wonderful cure of Salt Rheum. For seven years I suffered with Salt Rheum; I had it on my head, face, neck, arms and legs. I was not able to walk, only on my hands and knees for one year. I have not been able to help myself for eight years. I tried hundreds of remedies; not one had the least effect. The doctors said my case was incurable, so my parents tried everything that came along. I saw your advertisement and concluded to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. The CUTICURA brought the humor to the surface of my skin. It would drop off as it came out, until now I am entirely well. All I can say is, I thank you most heartily for my cure. Any person who thinks this letter a fraud, let them write or come and see me and find out for themselves.

THE SEAT OF WAR IN ASIA

That portion of southeastern Asia known as Cochin-China has been the scene of French operations for many years, and the trouble now in progress is simply a continuation of former ones resulting from the desire of France to maintain and enhance the value of a foothold obtained in the last century upon one of the fairest portions of Asia. Cochin-China comprises not only the French colony known by that name, but the districts of Anam and Tong-king to the north, the entire region possessing an area of 300,000 square miles and a population of 1,500,000. The shape of the country is like an irregular arc of a circle, with a coast line of 1240 miles and a breadth varying from 372 miles in Tong-king, the widest portion, to 50 miles in the kingdom of Hue, central Anam. The limits of Cochin-China are very imperfectly determined and the regions west of Tong-king are yet unexplored. The southern portion is well watered by the delta of the great river Cambodia, which, rising far to the north, in the mountains of Thibet, brings down an immense volume of water and alluvial soil as it passes through the rich districts of Burmah and Siam, and distributes it through 70 miles of delta into the China sea. The Song-kiang, or Red River, is the only river of importance in Tong-king. Its delta is formed by four branches, whose sediment steadily encroaching upon the sea is said to create new land to the extent of 330 feet annually. Ha-noi, the scene of recent operations by the French, is situated upon this river, but can only be reached by vessels drawing less than five and a half feet, except during the summer, when the depth of water on the bars will admit of those drawing twelve feet. The kingdom of Anam is drained by many unimportant streams. Saigon, the chief city of French Cochin-China, is reached by the river of the same name by the largest vessels.

The climate of Tong-king differs considerably from that of the French settlement in the south. The former country has four months of excellent weather, while the entire year is such that Europeans can live with safety and comfort. On the contrary the rich alluvial soil of the French colony, although giving life to a most remarkable growth of vegetation, is deadly to the foreigner. The vast swamps and salt marshes breed malarial fevers of great severity, while among the forests lingers the terrible wood fever, from which the native himself cannot escape. Dysentery is particularly fatal, and to it are ascribed a great majority of the deaths among Europeans. Children cannot be raised by Europeans in that climate, although the native women are surprisingly prolific, and suffer very little in childbirth. These considerations have doubtless much to do with the desire of the French to secure Tong-king as a sanitarium for their colony in Cochin China.

The animal life of the southern portion is as abundant and various as the vegetable. The rivers swarm with fish and reptiles, and the forests and swamps with birds of brilliant plumage and animals of all descriptions, from the tiny spotted monkey to the Indian rhinoceros and elephant. The orange, banana, guava, cabbage-palm and cocoa tree, with a superior variety of cinnamon grow wild in every portion of the country. Minerals are said to abound, but like the Chinese, their presence is carefully kept secret by the natives, and not until the country is thoroughly subdued and explored can their value be determined. The natives cultivate rice, which is the leading product of the country, and cotton, sugar cane, maize and vegetables. Tea is grown largely in Tong-king, the natives of Anam being unable to prepare it for market. There is little industrial activity among the natives of Anam, but in Tong king the manufacture of various articles ornamented with mother-of-pearl is carried on quite extensively. The imports come principally from China and France. Exports are chiefly rice, salt fish, salt, raw cotton and skins. The natives with whom the French have been compelled to contend, are generally of low stature, ugly in feature, and possess many physical peculiarities which have been considered sufficient by ethnographists to class them as a distinct race, and not descended from a mingling of indigenous savages with the Chinese. They are idle as a class, and possess little mental or physical vigor. Buddhism is the prevailing creed, but the people generally lack a vivid appreciation of the benefits of any religion. The principal cities are Ha-noi, capital of Tong-king, a straggling city of 50,000 people; Hue, of 100,000, capital of Anam, and Saigon, the chief city of French Cochin China, a commercial city of much importance, with a population of 150,000. The latter city was captured by the French in 1860, and since that time has been fortified and held as their seat of operations in Cochin China.

The first move towards occupation of this territory by the French was on November 28, 1787, when a treaty was signed between the king of Cochin-China and France, whereby the latter country obtained possession of the peninsula of Tourane and the island of Pulo-Condore on the coast of Anam. This agreement was only partially executed, but it was sufficient to render the influence of France predominant. At the death of King Gia-long in 1820, a successful attempt was made by natives unfriendly to foreign influence, to drive out the French, and it was not until 1858 that they obtained another foothold by the seizure of Tourane by a French squadron under Admiral Genouilly, and subsequent occupation, two years later, of Saigon. In 1862 the court of Anam accepted a treaty by which it abandoned three provinces to France and bound itself to pay an indemnity of war. In consequence of revolts the French occupied the other provinces of Lower Cochin China, and after long negotiations a treaty was signed at Saigon in 1874 abandoning all six provinces to France and opening to commerce ports in Tong-king and Anam as well as guaranteeing liberty of transit from the sea along the entire coast to China. The present trouble is between the French and natives, but promises to result in a war between that republic and China, by reason of the claims of the latter country upon Tong-king. The Chinese government exercises a sort of suzerainty over Tong-king, which the French do not feel like paying proper deference to; hence the warlike attitude of the Flowery Kingdom.

The Canadian papers which described the virtues and accomplishments of Lord Coleridge with great extravagance in anticipation of his visit to the dominion, are revising their estimate of him since he has announced that he can not go as far north at this time. A leading Toronto paper thinks that their desire to eat dinner with the great Englishman was too eager. It appears that he "is unable to spend a single day from the attractions of the United States to visit the greatest of England's colonies, and to accept the compliment of a banquet from his own profession, where its standing is higher than in any other dependency of the empire. Poor Canada! She must learn not to live upon the smiles or shiver at the frowns of English public men." Another editor has the news that the secret of the whole thing is that his proposed hosts failed to obtain for him a free pass over the Canadian railroad, a compliment vouchsafed him everywhere in this country. It seems to be a common opinion among great men, especially if they are very rich, that they should ride free, though on what grounds this opinion is based it would be difficult to tell. This may not have been the opinion of Justice Coleridge, however. No one who knows the difference between Boston and Montreal can blame him for preferring to spend most of his time in Boston.

Yesterday afternoon, fifteen or more men, serving out sentences in the city jail for drunkenness, were marched up First street heavily ironed. It was the best temperance lecture ever given in the city.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.

The reduction of our national debt has taken place so steadily that few people realize how much has been accomplished in this direction. The last bond call disposes of all that remains of the continued bonds known as the "Windoms." The amount is $32,082,600, and it clears off the $600,000,000 of 5 and 6 per cent. bonds which have been "continued" by Secretary Windom on his own responsibility, at 3½ per cent. That movement of the former secretary began not quite two years ago. There are now three classes of bonds in existence, as follows: $250,000,000 4½ per cents, redeemable September 1, 1891; $737,607,350 4 per cents, redeemable July 1, 1907, and $304,241,900 3 per cents redeemable at the option of the government. On about eight millions of the debt interest has ceased altogether; it consists of claims that will never be presented to the treasury. The debt which bears no interest consists of legal tender notes, gold certificates and silver certificates, and amounts to over $580,000,000. Thus the interest-bearing debt, exclusive of refunding certificates and the navy pension fund, amounts to but $1,291,849,250. On the 31st of August, 1865, just after the close of the war, it amounted to $2,381,530,294. It is a reduction of public indebtedness without a parallel in the history of the world.

It is a record to which the republican party can point with just pride. It will doubtless be made the most of in the campaigns, so we need not anticipate, further than to say that the people will not, on this account, demand that "the republican party must go." The debt, however, cannot continue to be reduced as rapidly as it has been, for the government has agreed not to redeem a large amount of bonds for many years. This will give the national banks an undisturbed basis for their currency, and at the same time to enable the government to relieve the people still further from taxation.

A Vienna paper, which has been investigating the subject with some thoroughness, presents interesting figures to show that as the weapons of war become more destructive the losses of men in battle decrease. There has been a marked and steady lessening of the fatalities of war within the last century. The losses of the Prussians in three of the great battles of the seven-years' war ranged in killed and wounded from 28 to 40 per cent. of the whole number of men engaged in the action. In the Napoleonic wars the casualties in seven representative battles ranged from 25 to 30 per cent., the lower figure being the English loss at Waterloo, though in one battle (that at Aspern) fully half of the French were either killed or wounded. The wars of our time have a still better showing. The Austrian loss at Konig-gratz was but 11 per cent., and the Prussian only 4; while in the terrible battles of the Franco-Prussian war the losses of the Germans were: Woerth, 12 per cent.; Spicheren, 18; Mars la Tour, 22; Gravelotte, 10, and Sedan, 4½. The terrible thing about modern war is the suddenness with which the great losses occur. There has also been a large increase in the proportion of the wounded to the killed in battle. The losses now are more concentrated, and it is not unusual in great battles for a regiment to be wiped out, or for a corps to be decimated. As General George H. Thomas first remarked, and as General Grant afterwards observed, there is a point of time after the first great shock of arms has occurred when both sides think they may be beaten, and the side which accepts that conclusion first is the one which is defeated.

An acknowledged authority in such matters, the London Lancet argues against overwork in the education of children, declaring that no growing child should be kept longer than a half or at most three-quarters of an hour at one task, or the same description of work. It claims that this is about as long as the attention of young children can be steadily directed to one and the same subject. A teacher who can fix and hold their attention for such a length of time may well be satisfied, and any teacher of experience will admit that it is very difficult to hold a child's attention over an hour to a topic which even presented at its best is dull. The writer in the Lancet claims that to persist in his efforts after their attention begins to flag has a tendency to weaken the faculty rather than strengthen it.

If such a thing was necessary to show the stride Portland is making towards the position of a commercial metropolis a walk about the city would be amply sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. In every quarter, at intervals of two or three blocks, may be seen small groceries and meat shops for the supply of the families surrounding them. This is one of the surest indications of a metropolitan city. This year the buildings erected for business purposes have been as noticeable for their distribution as for their number, and there is now hardly a district of four blocks without its store containing a general assortment of everything from a cabbage to a clothes line.

The republicans in Massachusetts have nominated a strong candidate for governor. Mr. Robinson is an able, upright and popular man, loyal to his party, and at the same time entirely acceptable to the independent and reform elements. The only drawback about his nomination is that it may induce Butler to not run again and thus destroy the opportunity of administering a rebuke to him, a thing he specially desires to avoid. Mr. Robinson is the ablest member of congress from Massachusetts and one of the best on the republican side in the house. It will be difficult to fill his place there.

Mr. George Blair, an eastern manufacturer, in his testimony before the senate committee on education and labor, a few days since, advocated a government tax on all incomes of over $10,000 a year as an easy means of solving the vexed problem of how to compel the rich to share in the burdens of national taxation. "It is certain that a judicious income tax is an excellent method of reaching that rapidly increasing class, whose efforts to evade taxation increase in direct ratio with the increase of their incomes. Mr. Blair believes such a tax would be generally acceptable, and he is probably right.

The paper mills of the world, about 4000 in number, produce yearly 959,000 tons of paper made from all kinds of substances, including rags, straw and alfa. About one-half the quantity is printed upon; and of those 476,000 tons, 300,000 tons are used by newspapers. The various governments consume in official business about 100,000 tons; schools, 90,000 tons; commerce, 120,000 tons; industry, 90,000 tons; and private correspondence another 90,000 tons. The paper trade employs 192,000 hands, including women and children.

The efforts now being made in Wall street to bear Villard stocks are not creating much of a panic among holders of the same, and those who have long purses are quietly buying at low prices to the extent of their means. To dealers in margins the present decline may not be a pleasant thing to contemplate, but those who purchase as a legitimate investment will find ample occasion for congratulation hereafter by securing now all they can reasonably acquire.

The volume for the current year of that very excellent publication, McCarty's Annual Statistician, has reached us. As usual, it contains full tables of information on a thousand subjects. It is a marvel of completeness and compactness, and may be relied upon as accurate. It is impossible to think of any general subject under the head of statistics of which it does not contain full information. It is invaluable in the editorial room as in counting rooms and in the schools.

"The free lunch route" is applied to the Northern Pacific by a Chicago editor whose invitation evidently miscarried.

The Chicago Inter Ocean says the Villard excursion is "all brains or dollars."

A tabulated statement of the receipts and expenses and the average cost of collecting $1 of revenue in all of the customs districts of the United States for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1883, has been prepared at the treasury department. From this statement it appears that $216,780,869 were collected at a cost of $6,423,127. The cost of collecting $1 ranges in the different districts from 1 cent and 1.8 mills in New York to $50.81 in Atlanta, Ga., the average cost in all the districts being 2 cents 9 mills and a fraction. In 29 of the 130 districts the cost of collecting $1 was more than $1, and in thirty of them it was less than 10 cents. The largest receipts were at the New York office, where more than one-half of all were collected, the smallest at Atlanta, Georgia, where they amounted to only $21. The receipts in the Astoria district were $104,605, and the expenses $10,972; in the Puget sound district $56,212, and the expenses $23,159. At Empire City in this state $1058 were collected at an expense of $1592. The districts in which the receipts amounted to over $1,000,000 are New York, Boston, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Chicago, Baltimore, New Orleans and St Louis. In eleven districts the receipts were less than $1000, and in two less than $100.

To say that a reform school is needed is but to reiterate what has been said very often before; but the fact is now freshly impressed by the outrage committed a day or two ago by hoodlums at Sellwood. To establish a reform school will not be possible till a change in the state law is made, and that cannot be secured till the next session of the legislature, a year from next January. It is probable that at that time the building at East Portland, now occupied by the insane patients, and soon to be vacated, can be secured at a comparatively low figure.

It appears that the foreign tour of Susan B. Anthony did not soften her heart any, nor give her a more exalted opinion of mankind. Commenting upon the fact that in England there are 1000 women practicing medicine, Susan says: "They kill as large a proportion of their patients and receive as exorbitant fees for so doing as male practitioners."

CITY.

PEDDLING WITHOUT A LICENSE.—William Montgomery, who ought to have been a Philadelphia lawyer, was hauled up before Judge Moreland yesterday on a charge of peddling without a license. He is the man who was mentioned in THE OREGONIAN a few days ago as having discovered an unenforced city ordinance relating to the numbering of houses in the streets of Portland and endeavoring to bulldoze citizens into purchasing signs from him. He was summarily ejected from one or two [illegible] and then went off and got gloriously drunk in consequence. At the suggestion of the city attorney, he made his little speech to the court, the substance of which was that he Rivers was recommended by Mr. Beers, superintendent of streets, to call the attention of citizens to the fact that their houses ought to be numbered, and that he was the [illegible]. As an excuse for his embarking in [illegible], the defendant said that he was suffering from sciatic rheumatism and that he wanted to earn bread for his babes. The court took the matter under advisement. Rivers' chief occupation since he came to this town has been billiard playing, and he is said to have roped in quite a number of green young men. He would let them win a game or two and then wager a sum of money on the result of the following games which he invariably won.

FIRE AT RATHDRUM.—Tuesday morning a fire was discovered at Rathdrum, Idaho, in the [illegible] of the Commercial house, on Main street, which is kept by Mr. Spofford. The alarm was given by Mrs. Shelton, a guest in the hotel, and before many minutes had elapsed the entire population of the little town were on the scene. Notwithstanding the most strenuous efforts of the citizens to subdue the flames, the fire spread with astonishing rapidity to the adjacent buildings on the north. The hotel was destroyed, and Brophy's saloon, the Courier office and M. M. Cow[illegible] general merchandise store suffered the same fate. Some of the last named persons succeeded in saving a part of their goods. Fortunately the town is supplied with an excellent system of water works which enabled the firemen to control the fire and they succeeded in quenching the flames before they reached the building of Wannacott & Glass, where [illegible] and Wells Fargo & Co.'s agency is located. The total loss is estimated at $10,000 and insurance to the amount of $4000 is held among the [illegible] who were burned out. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

THE LAST OF THE EXCURSIONISTS.—The editorial excursionists left yesterday for the east, by the steamer [illegible] to the Cascades and thence to Walla Walla. They said many kind and encouraging words regarding Portland and the surrounding country, and when their letters to their respective papers are published we shall give our readers the opportunity of [illegible] selections from them. While in Portland they were very satisfactorily entertained, and in the various excursions Mr. Frank T. Dodge has been untiring in his efforts to afford them every possible comfort and facility to do the [illegible] which they came here to do. [illegible] it has been a pleasure excursion, it has also been an engrossing and laborious journey, which but for these facilities would have been very wearisome. It was amusing to hear [illegible] that Portland was, to one who came from [illegible], "a real Kentucky kind of a place," while [illegible] from Massachusetts can think of the old bay [illegible] and reminded the Baltimore man of Maryland—a [illegible] way of saying that they were made to feel at home here.

SALMON MONEY.—The father of a large and [illegible] increasing family complains that he bought some canned salmon in this city and was charged 25 cents per can for it and found it not up to the standard, although bearing the brand of one of the best canneries on the river. The fish was white and tasteless. He further alleges that Columbia river salmon is retailed in Boston for [illegible] cents per can and in Liverpool, England, [illegible] equivalent to from fifteen to eighteen cents. He wishes to know why the price is so great and why his salmon was not up to the mark. As to the price, it is difficult to imagine any reason. A cannery man states that there are among the lot of salmon some with white flesh, which are canned as the others, and it was probably a portion of one of these which is complained of. It is [illegible] that canned salmon will ever be largely consumed here as the fresh article is in the market nearly all the year round.

FRUIT FOR MONTANA.—By the steamship Walla Walla, arriving yesterday from San Francisco there were received 300 boxes of green apples marked to [illegible]. Prior to the opening of the Northern Pacific, Montana received its fruit supply from California via the Central Pacific, Utah Northern [illegible] at a cost of one cent per pound [illegible]. Now that the new route is open California [illegible] the bulk of the northern fruit trade is [illegible] of its supply from Oregon. It is a matter of regret that Oregon's crop is so short this season, and the large red Oregon apples will be [illegible] by California which in previous years brought money for them. Now that there is a demand for fruit it behooves the orchardist to [illegible] and improve his trees as much as possible, so that he may at least assist in supplying the demand. The almost total failure of Oregon fruits this year is exceptional and does not [illegible] neglect of culture.

[illegible] HIS WAGES.—Charles H. Aldred, second officer of the British bark Scottish Tar, yesterday [illegible] in the United States court for his [illegible] for the trip from England to this port, amounting to $125. Aldred wishes to stay here, and [illegible] that the captain of the ship is willing that he [illegible] and is also willing to pay him his wages. The captain of a British ship cannot discharge a [illegible] in an American port without the consent of the consul. In this case the consul it seems [illegible] his consent, for the reason that he considers it [illegible] right for the ship to sail without a proper second officer. It is also claimed that Aldred has nothing coming to him as his wages are not due till his return to England. Aldred however seems to be of the opinion that he can collect [illegible] and has accordingly libeled the vessel. He will probably cause the agents some trouble whether he succeeds in getting his pay or not.

[illegible] ARRESTED.—George Doherty, who [illegible] himself the Tipperary Tiger, and John Gallagher, the Slugger from Cork, became involved in a little dispute yesterday, near Paddy Martin's [illegible]. From words the men soon proceeded to [illegible], and before many minutes had elapsed they [illegible] set to Marquis of Queensbury's rule [illegible] was nipped in the bud by Policeman Go[illegible] who happened to come along and who took them into custody. Gallagher's face was badly [illegible] and the blood was streaming from his nose. [illegible] Turner was searching Doherty, he [illegible] another blow at his late opponent, but he was [illegible] seized by the officers in attendance. Both [illegible] will have an opportunity of explaining the di[illegible] in the police court to-day.

[illegible] FOUND GUILTY.—James Turk was tried in the [illegible] court yesterday on a charge of assaulting [illegible] Schreiber, a former employe of his. Mr. Turk [illegible] his familiarity with courts thought it would be to his interest to have a jury empaneled in his case [illegible] after some difficulty and delay five [illegible] and two were selected. The usual sparring [illegible] between the defendant's attorney and M[illegible], but the latter gained his point for the jury [illegible] a verdict of guilty. Turk was sentenced [illegible] a fine of $50 and costs. In default of payment he was committed to the county jail. The prisoner [illegible] a counter charge against Schreiber of the [illegible] of wearing apparel, but on motion of the [illegible] district attorney, the complaint was dis[illegible].

[illegible] A SUCCESS.—The new postal note is an [illegible] appearing document being printed on [illegible] yellow paper, with brown, black and [illegible]. It looks like a revenue stamp for a [illegible]. Probably this has something to do [illegible] general unpopularity. They appear [illegible] natural place in the economy of things [illegible] the security of a postal order and [illegible] experience that postmasters are liable to [illegible] in issuing them for which reason [illegible] have refused to receive them. It was [illegible] yesterday that the issuing of these notes [illegible] stopped, but such is not the case. Only [illegible] hundred of these notes have been disposed [illegible] postoffice here and the demand is not [illegible].

[illegible] CHINESE GAMBLERS.—Almost all the Chinamen arrested in the fan tan games Wednesday night were released yesterday on depositing bail. The [illegible] paid in by them will be returned when a [illegible] bond is substituted therefor. Up to this [illegible] nearly four hundred Mongolians have been arrested for gambling, but no trials have thus far been [illegible]. An agreement has been entered into between [illegible] counsel for the Chinamen and the city attorney [illegible] the validity of the ordinance under which [illegible] arrests were made passed upon by Judge Deady. [illegible] The arrests [illegible] are largely due to the hostility of one [illegible] faction against the other.

COUNCILMAN KELLER HURT.—A day or two ago Councilman J. S. Keller was at work chopping wood on his ranch, which is situated sixteen miles below this city, he met with a painful accident [illegible] for some time. While hewing [illegible] with his ax a sliver of wood about one foot [illegible] from the log he was cutting and penetrating the clothing entered the knee [illegible]. Considerable difficulty was experienced in removing the splinter at the time the accident occurred, and Mr. Keller was [illegible] to come to Portland for surgical treatment. The wound is in a fair way to heal up.

[illegible] RUNAWAY.—About 3 o'clock yesterday [illegible] a team of horses attached to a farmer's wagon [illegible] frightened on Front street, near M[illegible] ran away. They turned the corner of [illegible] street and heading westerly dashed along [illegible] pace. When near West Park street the [illegible] was overturned which had the effect of making [illegible] more excited. They were at [illegible] near the corner of Eleventh street [illegible] happened at a time when the children had [illegible] from school and several rash little [illegible] their lives in attempting to stop the [illegible].

[illegible] ARTISTS.—H. Farney, the artist of the [illegible] Magazine, and C. Graham, who holds a similar [illegible] on Harper's Weekly, who were among [illegible] visitors, have made a number of valuable [illegible] while in the northwest. Among other [illegible] they have made some elaborate drawings of [illegible] of interest on the Columbia river and Puget [illegible] which will doubtless appear in their respective [illegible]. Both of these gentlemen will return [illegible] next year and transfer some of their [illegible] to canvass. They expressed themselves as [illegible] with the natural beauties of this region.

THE BENEDICTINE COLLEGE.—Baron Otto Von Vdesclager, who has been sojourning in this city for some weeks past is interested in the advancement of the new college of the Benedictine brothers to be shortly erected in Marion county. The brotherhood have purchased 2000 acres at [illegible], the first station out from Woodburn on the narrow gauge road. They have commenced the foundation of their brick college which will be situated on the top of a butte nearly 300 feet high. The building will command a magnificent view of the surrounding country. The land surrounding it will be farmed by the brothers of which order a large number are soon to arrive from Germany.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.—The publishers of the Weekly East Oregonian exhibit commendable energy and enterprise. Their issue of the 18th comes to hand enlarged to eight columns and containing a large amount of interesting original and carefully selected matter. The paper has steadily improved under the present management and they [illegible] excel all other papers published in eastern Oregon. The East Oregonian is the only paper [illegible] United States which had a special Fourth of July edition and [illegible] have it copyrighted and patented.

SALMON LOOKING UP.—For some time past the salmon market has been going from bad to worse, causing loss to canners and speculators who were not in a position to hold or who could see nothing ahead that would warrant holding. However there was [illegible] nothing, those who held along felt that a [illegible] turn must come. It is now stated that the [illegible] is toning up and that a better feeling exists. A [illegible] packer said [illegible] at $1.15 had been ref[illegible] on river. Doubtless the light north [illegible] pack will exercise a healthy influence upon the market.

LONG LOST LETTER FOUND.—The Rev. Mr. Plu[illegible] of this city received a few days ago a letter which had taken over twenty years to reach him. It was dated May 19, 1863 and was directed to Batavia, New York. Accompanying the letter was a printed explanation of the cause of the long delay. The letter had been mailed on one of the Erie railroad postal cars and had with several others dropped between the boards of the mail box and been lost to sight. Lately the car was overhauled and the letters found.

A MEAN THIEF.—Early yesterday morning as a lady named Mrs. Wilcox was walking up First street, she saw a respectably dressed young man [illegible] up, down and remove a handsome brass collar from the neck of her dog. The thief started to walk hurriedly away, but Mrs. Wilcox followed him and called to him to stop. The man got frightened and dropped the collar, which was picked up by the owner. The abashed thief then slunk away like a whipped cur.

THEY DON'T GIVE IT UP.—The Astoria chamber of commerce have forwarded a telegram to Mr. Villard asking whether he would commence work on the Astoria railroad if a contractor was found to build the same for $30,000 per mile and the terminus donated free. The members are anxiously awaiting a reply. If the reply is favorable they think that a responsible contractor will be found to commence work at once.

FOR YOUNG MEN.—This evening the first of a series of socials will be given at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association to which the young men of Portland are invited. A fine programme will be presented, consisting of songs, recitations, piano solos and an address by Major L. [illegible] Dane. Tickets may be obtained free of charge at the rooms of the association.

BRIEF MENTION

Lewis' planing mill on the Cricket grounds is nearly ready to begin operations.

The emigrant car which left here last evening for St. Paul took about fifty passengers.

Eugene Oliver was brought up from Kalama by Policeman Simmons. This young hoodlum is wanted on two charges of larceny.

Independence in Polk county is to have a weekly paper soon, which is to be published by Mr. Stine, late of the Heppner Gazette.

According to the San Francisco Call George Ho[illegible] had made a decided hit at the Bush street theater in "Our American Cousin."

J. L. Atkinson has moved from Third and Market, where he has resided for eleven years, to Third and Montgomery—the Shattuck homestead.

Chung Ah Si, who was held to answer to Justice White for larceny from the person, was yesterday admitted to bail in the sum of $150.

H. N. Skinner was fined $5 yesterday by Justice White for contempt of court; in default of payment was committed to the county jail.

John Davenport, who was sentenced to thirty days imprisonment in the county jail for selling liquor to Indians was released yesterday, he having served his term.

The largest pane of glass ever placed in a window in Oregon was yesterday placed in Reiter's [illegible] at the corner of First and Pine streets. It is 90 by 128 inches and 5-16 of an inch thick.

There will be a called meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the hall over Frank [illegible] store. A full attendance is urged as business of special importance is to be considered.

The cars of the Third Street Railway Company are now running to the corner of Seventeenth and U[illegible] streets, making trips every four minutes. Rails are being scattered along the south end of Third street and a double track will soon be laid there.

Several inquiries have been made of THE OREGONIAN concerning the stock of the Crystal Springs Water Company. It is ascertained that the company is only incorporated and organized, but that a majority of the stock has been taken. The company evidently means business.

Among a lot of fish received here from Puget sound yesterday were several shad, the first ever caught there. Shad were placed in California waters several years ago and occasional [illegible] have been caught in the Columbia for two or three years past. Now they have reached the Sound and will doubtless soon be found all along the coast to Alaska.

PERSONAL.

J. J. Doheny, a merchant of Walla Walla, arrived down last night on the steamer State of California.

Right Rev. Bishop B. Wistar Morris left Portland yesterday for Philadelphia, whither he goes to attend the general convention of the Episcopal church.

H. B. Standerwick, formerly of the San Francisco Examiner, and a journalist of some note, arrived in the State of California last night. He will probably locate permanently in this city.

Ex-Chief Justice G. G. Wright of Iowa, who came out with the Villard party, leaves this morning for St. Paul to join the Northern Pacific railroad commission of which he is a member.

SALEM NOTES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, Sept. 20.

J. M. Kelty, ex-sheriff of Yamhill county, is in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Marsh of The Dalles are in attendance at the state fair.

Hon. R. O. Dunbar of the [illegible] is in the city visiting friends and schoolmates of days gone by.

Larkin Fouts of Yamhill county has been adjudged insane and committed to the asylum at East Portland.

Old Father Schwatka is holding his own admirably for one of his age and will soon be able to be out on the streets.

Reed's Opera house was filled last evening on the occasion of the presentation of Led Astray by the Holland Comedy troupe. The characters were faithfully portrayed throughout and the leading parts especially so rendered by Mr. Holland and Miss Muriel, were very fine. They appear this evening in The Serious Family.

Fine Weather, Interesting Races and Unusually Large Attendance.

BOARD OF MANAGERS ELECTION

Premiums Awarded for Farm Products, Stock, Millinery, Sewing, Knitting, Etc.

Fourth Day

The autumnal glow of a September sun lit up bowers of purple grapes and tawny stubble fields of garnered grain as the hour of noon drew on apace on Thursday. The weather was so fine that although the card of attractions for the day was vastly inferior to those of former years the people accepted it as a general holiday and flocked to the fair grounds. The down train from Albany and Eugene discharged a big load, while a long one came in from Portland to swell the attendance. And meanwhile the air was dark with dust from the gigs, dog carts, hacks, buggies and bone setters, from all parts of Marion, Clackamas and Polk. At noon the tide of humanity was at its flood and the current began to slacken.

The parade of stock was over at noon and prompt [illegible] announcement. Bank R[illegible] wholly entered as a sire took the first premium over Woodbury, one of the best two milers [illegible] of the [illegible] bred horses in [illegible] over Glen Dudley one of the best bred horses in America. Several other premiums were awarded, and then the vast crowd surged away for lunch, after which the starter and [illegible] of the veteran Chamberlain announced that the pool box was open for positions in the half mile running race, in which Lady Day, Sage Brush Sam, Jim Merritt and Snip were the contestants. Meeting Mr. Beavers [illegible] Boggins he asked him [illegible] the [illegible] and savage son of Langford could run a half a mile in 49 seconds but [illegible] his reply. [illegible] The pools showed the following [illegible] of betting on the race:

Lady Day	5	2	15	30
Sagebrush Sam	20	12	8	2
Jim Merritt	17	8	8	10
Snip	4	2	1	[illegible]
Totals	61	47	30	7[illegible]

The betting was fast and furious [illegible] into the box like the grains of wheat. The start [illegible] places showed Merritt on the inside, Sage Brush Sam second, Lady Day third and Snip outside. The [illegible] mond tapped them off and [illegible] a capital [illegible] of it, but the Astoria mare was very hard [illegible] her legs and was soon to front followed by the Ochoco horse, both taking the track from the brown gelding before they had gone two hundred yards. Tom McCaugh was on the Astoria nag and no man can get more run out of a horse than he. As they neared the head of the homestretch Scoggins shook up Merritt and he closed in on the two leaders but unfortunately ran into a pocket behind them. Had he pulled to the outside of the track on the [illegible] ground he might possibly have won the money, but nothing could win it for him where he was. Amid deafening cheers the two leaders came on and Cooper drove the merciless steel into the Ochoco horse in vain. The beautiful daughter of Woodbury, owned by Dr. Jay Tuttle, won by about five feet with something to spare. Sagebrush Sam second, Merritt less than two feet behind him and Snip a bad fourth. Time 48½ seconds.

The second race was a trot for four year olds, mile heats three in five for which Gimlet (alias Mel[illegible]), Black Hawk, May Wintler and America were entered. The mysterious [illegible] of Sultan was drawn for some cause or other and the other three were left to fight it out. A more spirited scene of betting has seldom been witnessed as the annexed table will show:

Black Hawk	—	60	45	36	20	16
May Wintler	—	30	26	20	14	10
America		5	4	3	2	2
		95	74	58	36	28

America is a handsome bay mare owned by Dr. [illegible] Mack of Walla Walla, but so high tempered that all hopes of her becoming a turf nag might as well be dropped at once and for all. [illegible] be was in no condition for a bruising race. Black Hawk looked fat and the Vancouver mare was evidently out of form, so it was the biggest kind of a guessing race.

In the first heat May Wintler went off and never was headed. She won by four lengths in 2:50¾, the Walla Walla mare being distanced. She did not sweat out well and evidently [illegible] bellows to mend. The big bull [illegible] was taking much better and Quimby said he couldn't lose it. His owner's hopes [illegible] 2:50¾, 2:53¾, 2:51 the mare [illegible] Lindsay in the two last heats. John Pendar [illegible] ally feels sore at being taken out of the sulky and his nag given to [illegible], but there have been a good many jobs of late and the innocent occasionally suffer for the guilty. We don't believe any man [illegible] drive May Wintler faster than he and he [illegible] ing unseated. While it may have been [illegible] as a precautionary measure [illegible] been remanded to him as soon as [illegible] couldn't beat the big black colt [illegible] and a public announcement from the stand. We append a summary. Purse $300 for four year olds, mile heats 3 in 5.

G. Smiley's blk. g. Black Hawk 2 1 1 1
J. Lender's b. f. May Wintler ..... 1 2 [illegible]
G. H. Mack's br. f. America ..... dist
Time 2:51¾, 2:50¾, 2:53¾ [illegible]

Between the trotting race and the half mile run Jay B[illegible] of Jackson county sold to Julia L. Halliet [illegible] the [illegible] like of railroad builders his two year old bay filly Almonette by A[illegible] Favor [illegible] Poster, Hambletonian [illegible] and by (Mambrino) Patchen, own brother to Lady Thorne. The price paid was $600, which is a pretty good price for a two year old, and who shall say that southern Oregon enterprise is not meeting with a fair recognition.

SEATTLE NOTES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

SEATTLE, Sept. 19.

Large arrivals of railroad hands.

They are excavating rapidly for the new 120x120 opera house.

The decorations and the remnants of the late celebration are being removed as rapidly as possible.

Numerous parties are enjoying salmon fishing on the bay. They bring home fish varying in number from one to twenty.

Some of the timbers of the pavilion on the university campus are being framed into a new boarding hall for the use of the institution.

Twelve Chinamen were arrested the 18th instant for keeping a gambling den. Two of the number plead guilty and the others not guilty. The evidence was conflicting and so the two guilty ones had to pay into the city fund $40 and costs amounting in all to $70.

Proctor Knott's Resemblance to a Wart

Lexington, Ky., Press.

There is an impression abroad that Governor Knott is as callous as a wart, and won't pardon anybody. Governor Knott is not as [illegible] but he has a very kind heart in his rugged old bosom and will doubtless show all the mercy that humanity demands. But he is an exceedingly well balanced man and will not allow his sympathy to run away with his sense.

Where Robbers Most do Congregate

Mobile Register.

Notwithstanding the wild character of the country through which President Arthur has been traveling we doubt if he has seen near the number of robbers that may be seen daily in Washington.

Over Ripe

New York World.

Collector Badger of New Orleans thinks that Louisiana is ripe for a new political party. The old political party to which John Sherman and E. [illegible] Pitkin belonged was rather over ripe when last heard from.

EUGENE ITEMS.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

EUGENE CITY, September 20, 1883.

Professor Gunn is employed as organist at the M. E. church.

Rev. E. P. Henderson will open a school in the Mohawk valley next Monday.

Rev. Mo[illegible]ison is holding services each evening this week at the Christian church.

Mr. A. C. Woodcock, B. S., a worthy member of the class of '83 is employed as tutor in the university.

Mr. J. A. Winter and family have just returned from the Yaquina bay where they have spent the summer.

Rev. Wm. G. Simpson, pastor of the M. E. church, sends to-day to the fair a lot of very fine specimens of gold and silver bearing quartz that he brought with him from the different mines of Virginia City, Nevada.

Work began in the state university last Monday with [illegible] an average attendance. There are [illegible] only [illegible] new students present but many of the old ones are missing. They are however arriving daily.

Marshal Atterbury is ever on the lookout and this week has caught three young bloods who were on horseback and ran over a little boy. They were promptly disposed of at the justice's court.

According to the new city charter no exemption is allowed for [illegible] which we are told by [illegible] W. [illegible] Campbell. This is not [illegible] with the statutes of the state of Oregon [illegible] refuse to pay the city taxes when the matter is brought before the court his case will without doubt be sustained. Mr. W. A. Potter has made up his mind to do this and the matter will soon be put to the test.

POLITICAL MORSELS.

If the cowboys could get hold of Secretary Chandler they might scorch [illegible] than the ransom [illegible] from the country [illegible] of John R. [illegible].

The late candidate for governor [illegible] to the New Jersey republicans [illegible] wire cable manufacturer and [illegible] of the great engineer.

The [illegible] furnace in Alabama says he is making pig iron at [illegible] the little pig iron factory [illegible] that it cannot turn out pig iron at a profit for less than twice that sum. [illegible] will probably [illegible] for an iron [illegible] state tariff.

The classical editor of the Washington Post has discovered from a perusal of his Virgil that Mr. Dana is a plagiarist. In the ninth pastoral of Lycidas and Moeris occurs a line which freely translated reads "Pe[illegible] up ye rascals and begone."

It is no envious democratic sheet but the loyal republican Journal of Ithaca, New York which rises to remark that a man who has met Barney Biglin, Mike Creegan and Jakey Patterson in their native heaths has no reason to care a few prowling cowboys.

Where the Sinews of War Come From

New York Mail and Express.

Napoleon III kept an agent in the United States to purchase horses for his army and Canadian horses are now on their way across the Atlantic for use in the French cavalry. It would be difficult for the old world to fight without horses, flour and wheat from America.

With one Foot in the Saddle.

Buffalo Courier Dem.

If Mr. Arthur were not the incumbent of the presidential office his aspiration to it would be ridiculous.

FRIDAY MORNING, SEPT. 21, 1883.

THE EAST SIDE.

AN IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT.

No remonstrance having been received within the prescribed time against the proposed improvement of Fourth street from the north side of the bridge over Sullivan's gulch to within one block of the city limits, this important improvement is assured. The notice calls for grading, laying a plank roadway sixteen feet wide in the center of the street, and plank sidewalks four feet wide.

SCHOOL MATTERS.

As the schools of district No. 21 open on Monday next everything is being got in readiness for the beginning of trouble. The school houses have been, or will be, thoroughly overhauled, cleaned and repaired, and all necessary arrangements made for the accommodation of the young ideas and teaching them how to shoot. The teachers will meet the principal, Prof. Starr, at the Central building this afternoon at 2 o'clock, to receive instruction as to plan of operations, etc. At a meeting of the directors last evening, Miss Bertha McBride, a graduate of the high school of Portland, and who has had some experience as a teacher, was elected to complete the corps of teachers, and assigned to the third grade at the Stephens' addition school. The directors, having abbreviated the school year from ten months to nine, also decided to make no difference on this account in the teachers' salaries, which will aggregate the same for the year as heretofore. There is a probability that the new building in Stephens' addition will not be ready for occupancy on time, and in this event, school will meet in the old building until such time as it is.

FIRE.

About 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the roof in the rear portion of the sash and door factory on J street was discovered on fire. It was doubtless caused by sparks from the chimney, the dry shingles being ready to burn on the slightest provocation. The blaze was noticed by Mr. Chas. Bartel, who hastened to the engine house and rang an alarm, but by the time the hose cart arrived the fire was extinguished, two men assisting the city surveyor in the vicinity, named Kiessling and McLame, having meantime rendered effective service by means of buckets. This is said to be the third time within a month that a fire has started in the roof from the same chimney, from which it appears evident that this chimney does not extend sufficiently high above the roof to guarantee safety. The matter demands prompt attention, as adjacent buildings are also imperiled by the deficiency mentioned. The prompt action rendered at the fire Wednesday in all probability saved the sash factory and the adjoining foundry of Fran Payne from destruction, the nature of the buildings being such as to preclude the possibility of their salvation if once a good headway is obtained by the devouring element.

NOTES.

The "lights" of East Portland have organized and will give their first hop on the 28th inst.

The new Presbyterian church on the [illegible] street bridge will be dedicated on Sunday next, Rev. A. L. Lindsley, of Portland, officiating.

A church, 30x40 feet, is being built for the Seventh Day Adventists on G street, between Tenth and Eleventh. It will cost about $2000.

Father Verhaag, formerly pastor of St. Francis church in this city, is here on a visit. He is now located at Canyon City, Grant county.

Frank Fox, son of Alsey Fox, came to grief Monday evening while attempting to navigate a velocipede, the accident injuring his thigh severely. Dr. Smith is attending to repairs.

The contractor on the Holladay avenue improvement, who was instructed by resolution at the last meeting of the council to complete the improvement from Fourth to Sixth street, has not yet been officially informed of the fact.

George Driver, the 15 year old boy who stole the cow at Pleasant Home on Monday last, pleaded guilty in the circuit court yesterday, and will be sentenced this morning. A reformatory institution would appear to be one of the most urgent needs of the city and county.

Geo. Weatherby, aged about 15, mashed the tip of the index finger of his left hand through making a mislick with the hammer while lathing a house in Stephens' addition yesterday morning. Dr. Dav. Raffety found it necessary to amputate it as far down as the bottom of the nail.

A belated traveler, or possibly a tramp, sought relief at the residence of Gideon Tibbetts, in Tibbetts' addition, night before last, but was scared from the premises by one of the inmates of the house threatening to shoot. The idea that "midnight robbers" would knock at a door in order to gain admittance is scarcely to be credited.

The huge wood stove which has hitherto stood like a sentinel in the council chamber between the council and the audience, and obstructing the view of the latter, has been dispensed with, and a coal stove substituted, which, being much smaller and placed at one side, dismisses all obstacles and gives greater audience room.

W. D. and Charles Prettyman, with their families, returned yesterday from a pleasant sojourn at Westport. They report deer and trout abundant in that vicinity, and during their brief visit captured three of the former and about three hundred of the latter. The pleasure of W. D. Prettyman's trip was somewhat decreased by a severe spell of sickness during his return.

The Crops and Foreign Commerce.

New York Times.

The somewhat tardy figures of foreign commerce of the United States for July show some almost startling changes in comparison with last year. For example, last July we exported 8,807,263 pounds of fresh beef, whereas in July, 1882, we sent to hungry Europe only 1,180,685 pounds. In such other items as come under the head of provisions, etc. there was also a general, though small increase. The total values for July this year being $12,983,145, against $6,276,678 for 1882. In breadstuffs it is singular to find the exports of corn increase nearly sixteen times and the exports of wheat for the same month decrease by two-thirds. The exact figures are, for corn for 1883, 4,876,291 bushels, and for 1882, 343,358; and for wheat for 1883, 3,752,480 bushels against 10,444,361 for 1882. The total values of the exports of breadstuffs were for July this year $10,179,897, as compared with $16,665,369 in 1882. The exports show only slight changes as compared with either the previous month or with July, 1882, but the imports show a decrease of about $8,800,000 compared with June, 1883, and $9,000,000 compared with July, 1882. The specie movement shows that the change which began with May continues, and for July there was an excess of imports of $429,4 0. It is noteworthy that the influx of British gold did not begin last year until September, and then it leaped from $228,786 to $4,890,710 in October. What the specie movement will be this year depends largely upon the corn crop.

The scattering arrivals of "first bales" have recently been reminders of the beginning of a new cotton year. For the one closed with August 31 the Financial Chronicle has published its figures. The total is stated at 6,992,234 bales. The exports were 4,745,706, the spinners' takings 1,779,612, and the stock remaining 332,106. The southern spinners took in addition 231,000 bales. The figures are significant. They indicate a competition which has made itself felt by northern mill owners, and they mark an unbroken growth from 148,000 bales in 1877-8. The Chronicle's remarks an unusual disagreement among the prophets regarding the growing crop. For itself it estimates a deficiency of 1,300,000 bales as the extremest limit, but it does not regard even that as likely to affect the sufficiency of the world's supply—for the Chronicle's view of the condition and the outlook of the trade is not cheerful.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The annual review of the Charleston, S. C., News and Courier shows a business of $75,000,000 during the past year. Local manufacturers employed 6500 persons, the value of their products being over $9,350,000. The exports of phosphates were 359,000 tons, the largest known. The product of the cotton mills in the state reached $6,000,000.

A portion of the old Roman wall which formerly surrounded the city of London has been discovered seventeen feet below the level of Pa[illegible]noster row. All traces of the wall had long since disappeared, except in one or two spots, notably in the street called London Wall. Tradition points to a few ancient stones as a remnant of the famous barrier.

Recent evidence taken in Virginia City, Nevada, shows that the kind of stuff furnished "Lo" with which to burn holes in his stomach and cook his brain costs thirty cents per bottle. To pay fifty cents. Those who manufacture and sell the stuff at thirty cents per bottle probably make twenty cents. It must be the big profit on the single bottle that tempts men and women into the business of retailing to the Indians. The Chinese are adepts at making this cheap bug juice. Starting with a foundation of rice brandy, they concoct a beverage that makes the eyes of the red man to roll in their sockets and sets his head to stand erect.

The Race Question in Texas.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

THURSDAY, Sept. 20.

Since a similar period of last week trade has picked up to an extent quite noticeable. The interior is calling more largely for seasonable goods, and there is little complaint in any direction. The backward wheat trade causes some complaint, but this is almost entirely confined to the one channel. Farmers are well over harvesting and are beginning to look for a market. To this date the bulk of wheat receipts have come from the eastern section, the receipts from that direction since August 1 being 340,-858 centals, against 61,881 from the valley. In the same time last year we received 197,231 centals from the valley and 195,549 from east of the mountains, or a nearly equal drawing. An unsatisfactory condition of the grain and freight market operates against a free movement in this direction.

By the northern route we are receiving eastern goods and returning salmon and other articles. Two trains have left with salmon, but until we can send wool, hides, etc., the eastern freight movement will be small.

FREIGHTS—The situation is one that is alike displeasing to owners of tonnage and to shippers, yet the latter are taking some little advantage and are trying to square themselves against high ships, of which they have a number, and into which they must put high priced wheat and send it to a low market. That this must be done at a loss is quite evident, hence the attempt in some directions to retrieve losses by loading cheap ships. The same condition of affairs exists at San Francisco, where ships are being rechartered at considerable loss to original holders. Latest charters were at 55s, U. K., for iron, and 52s 6d for wood. There is no iron now on spot, and wood ask an advance on the above. Were they willing to accept 52s 6d or thereabout, some business would be done, as the venture on part of shippers would not appear a losing one. With wheat pouring in, as it soon must, the question of storage becomes an important one. Our capacity has not materially increased over last year. The increased amount of dock room built by the transportation companies is needed by them for an increased freight movement. The iron fleet soon to arrive is understood to be mostly under charter, some of it being held by speculators. It would seem there is nothing that would bolster up rates except an improved foreign grain market.

PRODUCE MARKET.

WHEAT—While values show no quotable change over those ruling last week, yet a decline is only prevented by the absence of any selling pressure. Even at last prices paid for tonnage our market admits of no profit to shippers. The English market has declined about 2s per quarter, while our market has witnessed no quoted decline. The loss thus far has been to tonnage. Transactions are almost entirely confined to Walla Walla for shipping purposes, and operators have succeeded in quietly buying up a no inconsiderable amount at 61@65c at Walla Walla. The latter figure is an extreme, the bulk of purchases being at about 62½c. Millers pay a slight advance, but cannot take a great deal, they having no call for flour for shipment. The trade in valley is mostly confined to milling uses, the wheat being of a quality exceeding previous expectations. Wheat that will weigh over sixty pounds to the bushel is being received by the mills, and the most of this wheat is grown from seed brought from California. This proves the value of Oregon soil, for California has had to lower their standard grade until fifty-six pound wheat is classed as No. 1. The quality of California wheat this season is far below that of last year, and then they overrated their grain. Local quotations are $1 41¼ for Walla Walla and $1 55 for valley, with an advance necessary to secure choice lots.

FLOUR—Standard brands are quoted $4 75, less usual discount. The call is entirely confined to local purposes, although some is being sent to California. For some days there have been rumors of a combination among standard mills, but the rumor seems to be narrowed down to a purely business transaction between two mills, and which will make no impression on the flour market.

MILLSTUFF—Market very firm, with good demand and increased local receipts, only has the effect of decreasing California importations. Jobbing prices are: Bran, $20@23; middlings, $30@35; chop, $30@33.

OATS—Offerings quite free, especially of fair to good, which meet with slow sale. Good to choice feed bring 54@56; milling, 57½c.

PROVISIONS—Market is poorly supplied with most kinds, and values are very firm. Quotations are: Choice Oregon hams, 15@16c; best eastern, 19@21c; bacon, 13@14½c; lard in pails, 15@16c; in tins, 14@15c; shoulders, 11@12c; shoulders very scarce.

FRUIT—Supplies to-day were meagre, but tonight's steamer brings fresh consignments. Apples in larger receipt. Quote apples, $1@1 25; pears, scarce at $1@1 50; grapes, $1 35; peaches, $1 75; oranges, $8@8 50; lemons, $10 50; tomatoes, 75c; Oregon melons, $3 per doz; California, $8 per crate. By last steamer came 385 bxs apples for Montana.

DRIED FRUIT—Stocks light and values firm. Quote sun dried apples 12½c; Plummer dried apples in boxes, 15@16c; plums, 12½@14c; Oregon prunes, 12c; German prunes, 11c; raisins, $2 25 per box with usual advance for fractions; peaches, 16@17c; pears, 10@12½c; California figs, 9c.

CHEESE—California, 15c; Oregon and eastern, 18c.

POTATOES—Receipts fair and supplies are easily obtained at 60@75c; sweets, 3c.

ONIONS—Selling at 1¾c.

HOPS—No market as yet and buyers claim they cannot pay over 18c.

WOOL—Little or nothing doing. Other markets drag slowly. Quote valley, 15@18½c; eastern, 14@18c.

BUTTER—Owing to advance in San Francisco late receipts from that direction are held at 45c. Some Oregon is coming in and selling at 40@42½c.

CHICKENS—Market fairly steady at $4@5 as to size.

EGGS—Sales to-day were generally at 27½c, although some holders asked more, claiming their stocks were fresh.

HIDES AND SKINS—Receipts very large but market quite firm. We quote green hides, 7@8c; dry, 14@16c—culls ⅓c off; deerskins, summer, E. O., 20@25c; valley, 25@30c; winter, E. O., 18@20c; valley, 20@25c; elk, 14@16c; Indian dressed buckskins, 75c@$1; black bear, per skin, $1 50@5; brown, $1@5; mink, dark, 10@50c; dark fisher, $1@4 50; red fox, 50@75c; mountain fox, 1 [illegible]@20c; prime dark marten, 75c@$1 50; muskrats, 8c; badger, 10c; raccoon, 10@25c; land otter, $1 50@4; wolf, 50@75c; wolverine, 50c@$1 50; house cat, 10c; wild cat, 10@20c; skunk, 10c; divers, 10c; coyote, 25@50c; dark beaver, $1@1 50.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 3191 ctls wheat, 663 bbls flour, 43 ctls oats, 15 ctls barley, 109 ctls bran, 6 ctls millstuff, 50 sks potatoes, 1905 lbs wool, 840 lbs hides, 30 bxs eggs, 116 bxs fruit, 12 bxs butter, 60 bales hay. Also 18,539 ctls wheat, 200 bbls flour, 330 ctls bran, 800 lbs hides, 4034 lbs hops from the eastern section.

Receipts by leading lines of transportation for the past seven days were: 23,975 ctls wheat, 3050 bbls flour, 2075 ctls oats, 16 ctls barley, 888 ctls bran, 698 ctls millstuff, 287 sks potatoes, 147 bls hay, 30,378 lbs wool, 27,411 lbs hides, 136 pkgs butter, 130 cs eggs, 560 bxs fruit, 200 bbls lime, 12,166 lbs hops.

Receipts by leading lines of transportation since August 1, as compared with like time of last year:

	1883.	1882
Wheat, centals	402,487	393,880
Flour, barrels	95,771	42,905

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Washington Territory.

Only a mile and a half of the railroad between Black river and Puyallup remains to be completed.

Two white men, on Wednesday afternoon, purchased a pony from an Indian near New Tacoma, paying therefor what the siwash supposed was a $60 bill. An investigation revealed the fact, however, that the greenback was only good for $1, over the figure one of which the figures "60," printed in green, were pasted. At last accounts the swindlers were still at large.

Seattle Post Intelligencer: The large force of railroad builders recently employed by Mr. Montgomery on the Northern Pacific road, between Portland and Kalama, about 1000 in number, have been ordered to Seattle, to work on the Cedar river extension; in other words on the Cascade branch of the Northern Pacific railroad, between Seattle and the common point in the Green River valley. A large number of cars have already arrived, as well as the first installment of 300 Chinamen.

Western Oregon.

On Tuesday last a collision occurred at White's station, in Yamhill county, the junction of the West Side and Narrow Gauge roads. The Narrow Gauge train backed into the West Side, one of the former's cars being considerably damaged. A little girl, name unknown, received a severe cut on the forehead.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is highly concentrated, and the most economical blood purifier that can be used.

A POLICEMAN'S DUTY.

Policeman ED K. HEATH, 29 North street, Portland, Maine, May 11, 1883 writes:

"I have been troubled for a good many years with inflammation of the bladder, dating as far back as during the time I was in the army. I suffered with dull, heavy pains in the back and kidneys too intense for me to describe, and tried several remedies that were recommended, and was examined by one of our best physicians, who pronounced it inflammation of the bladder, and I went to the hospital for treatment, but all medicine and treatment seemed to fail. I was recommended to try Hunt's Remedy, as it had been used in several such cases here in Portland and vicinity. I purchased a bottle at Smith's drug store here, and found after using the first bottle that it relieved me greatly, and after using several bottles, found that it did me more good than all other medicines and treatment I have received combined. And to add to my good opinion of Hunt's Remedy, I beg to state in closing that my wife has been for a long time troubled with a weakness and inflammation of the bladder—with a complication of other disease peculiar to women. After using only two bottles she has been completely cured; and I can say that my wife is loud in praise of this wonderful medicine, and I would highly recommend it to all who are suffering from kidney disease or disease of the bladder."

PORTLAND, Me., May 11 1883.

I hereby certify that I know the facts of the sickness of Mrs. E. K. Heath, and that they are correctly stated in the foregoing certificate, and her cure was accomplished by the use of Hunt's Remedy.

A. W. SMITH, Druggist,
Cor. Portland and Green streets.

NO MATERIAL CHANGE.

"This is to certify that I have used Hunt's Remedy for the kidney complaint, and derived much benefit from its use.

I have been afflicted about one year, and received treatment from the local physicians, and used a number of so-called specifics without any material help. I am happy to say, after using three bottles of Hunt's Remedy, I was completely cured.

never fail to recommend it, and you are at liberty to use my name in any manner you may desire.

MERCURY

Has been more destructive to human health and life than war, pestilence and famine combined." So said a distinguished writer many years ago, and it is as true to-day as then. The poor victim of Blood Disease is drugged with Mercury to cure the malady, and then dosed with Iodides to cure him of the Mercurial Poisoning; but instead of any relief, the first breaks down his general health and makes him a cripple, and the other ruins his digestive organs. To those afflicted in this way Swift's Specific is the greatest boon on earth, and is worth more than its weight in gold. It antidotes this Mercurial Poison, tones up the system, and brings the sufferer back to health and happiness. Every person who has ever been salivated should by all means take a thorough course of this remedy.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Twiggs Co., Georgia.

Five years ago I found on my plantation a colored man who was badly diseased. He stated that five years before he had contracted a violent case of Blood Poison, and had been treated by many physicians, all failing to cure him. I treated him with Swift's Specific, and in a short time he was sound and well, and has not had a symptom of the disease since.

D. M. R. JONES.

One gentleman who had been confined to his bed six weeks with Mercurial Rheumatism has been cured entirely, and speaks in the highest praise of S. S. S. CHILES & BERRY, Chattanooga, Tenn.

WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS.

As a general beverage, necessary corrective of water rendered impure by vegetable decomposition or other causes, as lime, sulphate of copper, etc., the AROMATIC SCHNAPPS is superior to every other alcoholic preparation. A public trial of over thirty years' duration in every section of our country, of UDOLPHO WOLFE'S SCHNAPPS, its unsolicited indorsement by the medical faculty, and a sale unequaled by any other alcoholic distillation, have insured for it the reputation for salubrity claimed for it. For sale by all druggists and grocers.
